

danibu update

Summer 2019 - update #11

New look! New feel! Same quality!

Welcome to this danibu update in the new look and feel, fully aligned to the new danibu website. No matter whether you access the site via mobile phone or desktop, the website is the umbrella platform to stay on top of danibu projects, creative services and training.

Enjoy surfing!

Leaving for Canada

I'll be leaving for Canada next week to join the IABC world conference in Vancouver. It promises to be a great trade event with over 1000 communication peers coming from all over the world. I really look forward to being part of an unparalleled networking conference - not only as a participant: I've been invited to speak at the conference and will provide a 2-hour workshop, that nicely tunes into the overall conference theme: "Think forward".

Inspiration matters!

danibu rolled out a couple of inspiring training sessions across Europe in the past couple of months – both in-house and public. All of them high-energy and really fun workshops, and with participants who are eager to acquire communication tips and the principles that great speeches and presentations have in common.

It will come as no surprise that successful companies invest in these types of trainings, as employees are better off when they know how to effectively cut through the noise – in their emails, presentations or face-to-face meetings.

Contact danibu if you want to organize your own, tailor-made in-house Communication and Presentation workshop to inspire your team.

Or, maybe you're interested to join the next public 1-day intense session on Friday, 27 September, from 09:30 - 17:30 in the Netherlands.

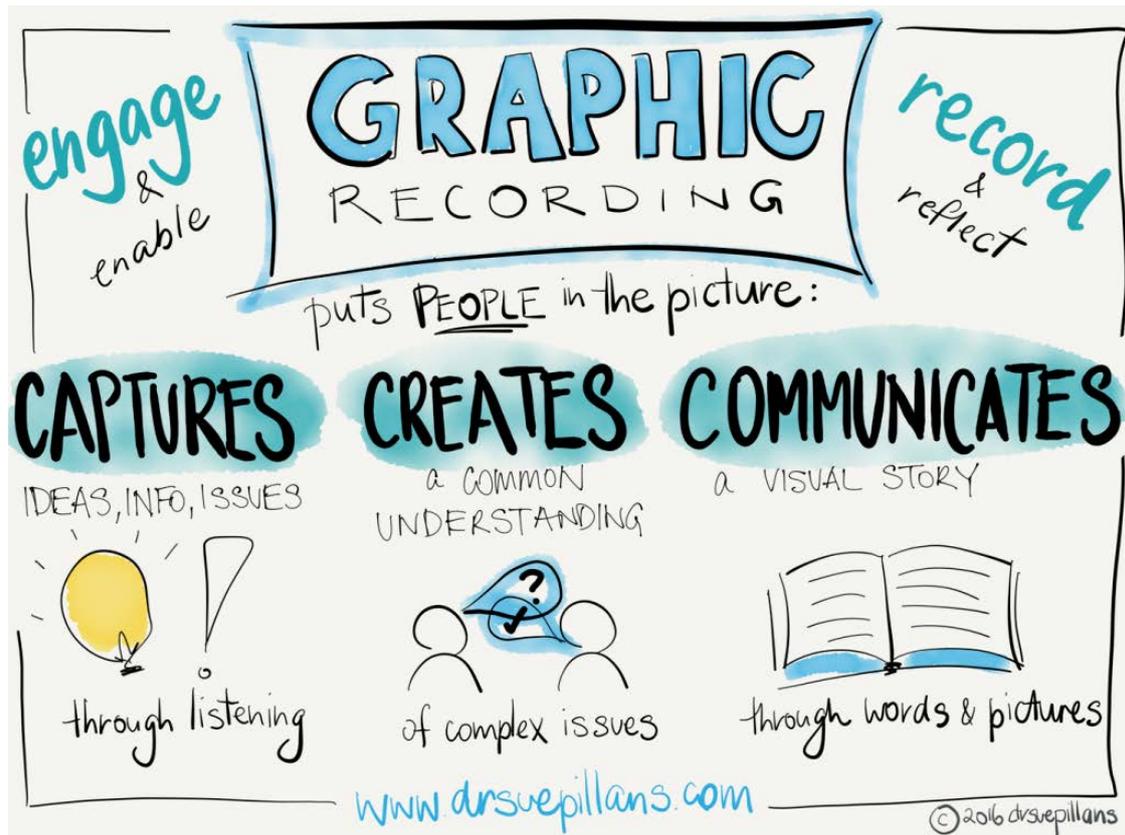

Farewell FedEx

This week, the danibu/FedEx Express interim assignment comes to an end. Time flies (18 months) when you're having fun! Time to say good bye to these fine FedEx folks and this wonderful company.

I really enjoyed working within the European Headquarters in Hoofddorp, NL, together with a skilled pool of diverse talent, across different European markets and colleagues from the Corporate FedEx Headquarters in Memphis, USA. Thanks for a very special time - and for making this farewell clip.

Did you know? Visual recording

Also called graphic recording, this is the real-time translation of conversations into text and pictures. We've hired a graphic recorder for number of client meetings lately, and this really does increase participants' engagement. Shout if you want to use visual recording for your next meeting. For more information, click here.

danibu is the communication consultancy and creative production company that gets everybody in step with one another. danibu partners with clients across industries and markets to improve communication footprints and to create unique work for leading businesses and brands.

Our mailing address is:
danibu Gouwweteringkade 24 Haarlem, 2033 NS Netherlands

You're a valued partner in our danibu community, which is why you're receiving this newsletter.

This danibu update wants to reach you like it's coming from a friend: Catching up and sharing news.
Please shout if you have suggestions or rather want to exit the distribution list.

Copyright © 2019 danibu. All rights reserved.

